About Cookies

Cookies are files, often including unique identifiers, that are sent by web servers to web browsers, and which may then be sent back to the server each time the browser requests a page from the server.

Cookies can be used by web servers to identify and track users as they navigate different pages on a website, and to identify users returning to a website.

Cookies may be either 'persistent' cookies or 'session' cookies. A persistent cookie consists of a text file sent by a web server to a web browser, which will be stored by the browser and will remain valid until its set expiry date (unless deleted by the user before the expiry date). A session cookie, on the other hand, will expire at the end of the user session, when the web browser is closed.

Cookies do not contain any information that personally identifies you, but personal information that we store about you may be linked, by us, to the information stored in and obtained from cookies.

Visitors to our Occupational Health's Portal and cookies

When someone visits eopas.teamprevent.co.uk, managerzone.teamprevent.co.uk, or employeezone.teamprevent.co.uk cookies are used. The cookies used on these websites include those which are strictly necessary cookies for access and navigation, cookies that track usage (performance cookies), remember your choices (functionality cookies).

We may use the information we obtain from your use of our cookies on these websites for the following purposes:

1. to recognise your computer when you visit the website
2. to track you as you navigate the website
3. to improve the website's usability
4. to analyse the use of the website
5. in the administration of the website

Third party cookies are not used on these websites and no cookies that provide you with targeted content or advertising are used.

Visitors to our main corporate website and cookies

When someone visits www.teamprevent.co.uk the web-site uses Google Analytics, a web analytics service provided by Google, Inc. ('Google'). Google Analytics uses 'cookies', which are text files placed on your computer, to help the website analyse how users use the site.

Google Analytics is only used with our main promotional corporate website www.teamprevent.co.uk. Our secure online portals are not registered with Google Analytics.

The information generated by the cookie about your use of the website (including your IP address) will be transmitted to and stored by Google. Google will use this information for the purpose of evaluating your use of the website, compiling reports on website activity for website operators and providing other services relating to website activity and internet usage.

Google may also transfer this information to third parties where required to do so by law, or where such third parties process the information on Google's behalf. Google will not associate your IP address with any other data held by Google. You may refuse the use of cookies by selecting the appropriate settings on your browser, however please note that if you do this you may not be able to use the full functionality of this website.

If you want to find out more about google analytics you can visit their information page: www.google.com/policies/privacy/ads/#toc-analytics
If we do want to collect personally identifiable information through our website, we will be up front about this. We will make it clear when we collect personal information and will explain what we intend to do with it.
